

EARL CROW, who has been catching up on some of his fishing and visiting with relatives and friends since he decided to let up on delivering groceries and doing other chores about the John Howard Grocery store.

He tells about having gone up in Oklahoma several days ago where he helped to celebrate the one hundredth birthday of his aunt's father, Joseph Sidney Vandenburg.

"I remember back some 55 years ago our family used to go over to Mr. Vandenburg's place," Crow recalls, "and he would get me to go quail hunting with him—not because I was a good hunter but because the game limit was 25 birds per man, and he would take me along so he could get 50 birds at a hunt. He was a good shot, and when he brought home a big batch of quails the whole neighborhood would feast for several days."

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX was responsible for many literary gems, both in her books and in her small articles. She was a sage, a wit, a philosopher. Here is one of her short gems:

To sit in silence when we should protest makes cowards out of men. The human race has climbed on protest. Had no voice been raised against injustice, ignorance and lust, the inquisition yet would serve the law and guillotine decide our least disputes.

The few who dare must speak, and speak again, to right the wrongs of many.

AN OLD COOK BOOK, declares the Montana Farmer-Stockman, contained the following information on "How to Preserve a Husband":

Be careful in your selection. Do not choose too young. When once selected, give your entire thoughts to preparation for domestic use. Some insist on keeping them in a pickle, others are constantly getting them in hot water. This makes them sour, hard to get along with and sometimes bitter.

Even poor varieties may be made sweet tender and good by garnishing them with patience, well sweetened with kisses. Wrap them in a mantle of charity. Keep warm with a steady fire of domestic devotion and serve with peaches and cream. Thus prepared they will keep for years.

ONE QUIPSTER from over Anson way was reporting the other day that, when one of these modern women writers had written that "All married men should wear something to indicate that they're married," he jibed: "But lady, aren't a five-year-old suit and a harried look identification enough?"

THIS COLUMN doesn't go in much for poetry. We like it occasionally, understand, but will take it in short and sweet doses. The little ode below on politics is from Edgar A. Guest:

What can we say of politics
That one would care to quote,
When seventy thousand stay at home,

And scarce ten thousand vote?
Or, should we say the people rule,
And should we cheer the masses,
Or, should we say the town is run
Expressly for the classes?

When seventy thousand stay at home

And scarce ten thousand vote?
I don't believe that we care much
Who has us by the throat!

Mrs. Frank Taylor of Fort Worth and Mrs. Ola Henry of Dallas were here on business this week.

Social Security Benefits Coming to County Mean Much to Area Economy

As of February, 1959, old age, survivors and disability insurance monthly benefits were being paid in the 16-county Abilene district at the rate of just over $12,000,000 a year, according to R. R. Tuley Jr., manager of the Abilene social security district office.

"This is an increase in payment of about 41 per cent over December 31, 1957, and an 18 per cent increase in the number of beneficiaries," Tuley said.

Tuley stressed that, while the benefits are intended primarily as a foundation for the beneficiary's economic security, the payments of social security benefits at the rate of $70,600 a month in Jones County, for example, helps business in the community generally because most of the money is spent immediately on food, clothing and other necessities. "The were being paid nationally at a rate of nearly $10,000,000,000 annually."

"There were several reasons for the increase in beneficiaries over last year," he said. The long term growth of the aged population and the proportion of the aged population eligible for benefits are important factors in the continuing increase in the number of beneficiaries. Other reasons for the increase of beneficiaries are found in the provisions of the 1958 amendments to the social security act which now make it possible for the wife, dependent husband and children of a disabled worker beneficiary to receive payments. The amendments also provide for benefits to aged dependent parents of a deceased worker even though the survivors are entitled to payments.

The table below shows the number and amount of each type of benefit being paid in Jones County as of February 28, 1959, the date of the latest available tabulation:

Beneficiaries	No.	Amount
Retired worker	798	$47,927
Wife or husband	334	20,172
Widow and dependent parents	126	5,995
Children	183	6,506

For the entire state of Texas social security payments at the end of February, 1959, were being paid to 485,036 beneficiaries at the rate of $26,093,144 per month. Social security benefits totaling $283,466,000 were paid in Texas during 1958.

Highway 83 Will Be Advertised as Route for Tourists

That segment of the U. S.-Canada Highway 83 from Laredo to Brownsville, and Canada will receive the major part of all travel promotion advertising, delegates to the international convention at North Platte, Nebraska, decided last week. The highway is a major thoroughfare through Hamlin.

It was pointed out by officials that summer fishing travel to Canada and winter travel to the Rio Grande Valley and through the Texas border gateways to Mexico from Laredo and Brownsville would create tourist business for all intervening towns.

Liberal, Kansas, was made permanent Highway 83 headquarters to make the promotion program more efficient. William Hedrick of Liberal was elected president, and Carl Riis of Pierre, South Dakota, vice president. John Mayfield of Perryton was elected Texas vice president to succeed Paul T. Vickers of McAllen, who will continue publicity work.

McAllen had six of the nine delegates from Texas. Mayfield and Vickers were on the convention program, and Mrs. Vickers showed the colored motion pictures of Mexico furnished by CMA. Mayfield will seek to increase the Texas membership, now at a low ebb.

Phelps Family Left Homeless by Loss of Landmark

Young Hamlin family of six was left homeless late Monday afternoon when a stately old landmark of the community, the Whitely home on Northwest Avenue A, was gutted by fire. The blaze likewise took most of the possessions of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phelps.

The fire, which was thought to have started in the bathroom as a result of faulty wiring, was noticed by the family about 5:15 p. m. It spread quickly to the upstairs part of the two-story, nine-room home built by the Whitely family about 40 years ago. Flames were lapping from the second story windows by the time firemen reached the scene.

The family, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps and their four children, were at home when the fire was discovered. Mrs. Phelps was outside talking to neighbors when one of their children noticed smoke coming from the bathroom window. They managed to save only a few of their household belongings.

Phelps is unemployed and has been under a doctor's care for more than two years. The children are Roy Glen, 11 years old; Robert, 10; Shirley, eight; and Geneva Ann, five.

Representatives To Confer with BCD Next Week

Renewed efforts of the major civic organization, the Hamlin Board of Community Development, under the direction of Orville D. Roland, to get more industries for the community have been given audience by a women's lingerie manufacturing company. It is reported this week.

Representatives of the concern are due to come to Hamlin next week and meet with BCD representatives and other business men in conferences about the firm's requirements for a plant. Roland has been in telephone contact with a member of the firm, and the conference was arranged.

Several tentative sites for the proposed plant, said to require 50,000 square feet of floor space, will be shown the representatives. Several business men are interested in building a structure to house the plant. The company, it is said, would take a long term lease on the property.

Particulars about the company cannot be released as yet, Roland says, but the public will be informed of any progress on locating of the plant here.

Other small industries are being eyed for possible location here, Roland declares.

Area Ex-Students to Attend ACC Reunion

A royal welcome is in store for numbers of Hamlin area former students and several thousand other ex-students and friends of Abilene Christian College as the school hosts its annual homecoming celebration October 30 and 31, declares a release from the college to The Herald.

The Alumni Association, the Students Association and many others are planning a check-full two days of fun, food and football for the exes.

Earl and Melvin Crow, Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Jr., Helen and Johnny attended an uncle's eighty-sixth birthday dinner Sunday at his home in Terral, Oklahoma. His name is Pearl Howard. About 90 kinsfolk attended the affair.

Cottonseed House At Gin and Two Homes Destroyed

Three major fires within a period of 36 hours first of the week gave people of the community a scare, and reminded them that as colder weather comes, precautions of safety should be taken in homes and elsewhere.

Two landmarks of the Hamlin territory—the old Whitely two-story nine-room home on Northwest Avenue A, and the old Staton house on the Hollis Madden farm six miles south of town—were destroyed Monday evening.

The Whitely fire resulted apparently from faulty wiring in a bathroom, while the house on the Madden place caught afire when a butane stove exploded. Separate stories on these two fires are in today's Herald.

Wednesday morning about 5:40 firemen of the Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department were called to the Hamlin Farmers Cooperative Gin in Southeast Hamlin when the big seed house was reported in flames. Most of the house was destroyed, said W. W. Fletcher, manager of the gin. Loss was estimated at between $6,000 and $7,000, Fletcher said.

Origin of the gin fire had not been determined Wednesday.

Truck-Scooter Crash Victim Still in Hospital

Condition of Dwaine Wheat, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Wheat, seriously injured in a motor scooter-dairy truck accident near the post office in Hamlin two weeks ago today (Thursday), continues to improve. His foot, which was badly lacerated, in which about 50 stitches were taken, had healed to the point the stitches were to be removed this week, his father told The Herald.

Johnny Stovall, also 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Stovall, who sustained a head injury and other bruises, was released from the hospital three days after receiving treatment.

Lions Club Sale of Brooms Set Tuesday

Annual broom sale by members of the Hamlin Lions Club for the unit's blind work in the community will be conducted next Tuesday.

Besides a strenuous drive by members in the town, the broom truck will be located just south of the bank where brooms, mop and other articles manufactured by "the house of the blind" will be sold, according to Donley Williams, president of the club.

A girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Concepcion Tapia. Tipping the scales at six pounds 11 ounces, she was labeled Hermelinda.

RUSSIA SHOWS THE WAY FOR SHOTS TO MOON

The real significance of the successful Russian rocket flight to the moon is not in the fact that powerful rocket engines were obviously necessary to perform the feat.

The real significance lies in the fact that an unusually accurate guidance system was obviously functioning during this rocket experiment. U. S. scientists agree that the guidance system used by the Russians had to be an excellent one. This feature was the major question so often raised by military analysts and U. S. military experts, when they suggested that Russia was not ready to bombard the United States with ICBM missiles.

In other words, the world knew that Russia had the most powerful rocket engines, and was ahead in the race for powerful, reliable rocket engines. The big question was whether the Russians had a guidance system which was capable of bringing these rockets in on U. S. targets, near the mark. That question has been answered ominously by the sensitivity and accuracy of the control of the Russian moon rocket, although there are still skeptical scientists.

There seems little reason to doubt, however, that the Russians could launch ICBMs which would strike U. S. targets fairly accurately.

Since, therefore, our targets are quite juicy (we have not placed our defense factories underground, and we have not dispersed our essential war industries) the United States finds itself peculiarly vulnerable, and more so than at any time in its long history. This unquestionably gives Premier Nikita Khrushchev a major psychological weapon in his talks in the United States.

There are indications that the United States is speeding plans to launch its own moon rocket, but, since we have already failed in one attempt, and since our rocket program is beset by many uncertainties and numerous failures, there is no reason for unjustified optimism concerning this attempt.

There is a good possibility, however, that this attempt will be made before President Eisenhower returns the visit of Nikita Khrushchev to the United States with his own visit to Russia.

Fruits of Doubt

I went into a photograph studio to have my picture taken—went reluctantly, for firmly implanted in my mind was the belief that I would not take a good picture.

"This is something I dread terribly," I said to the photographer. "I haven't had a picture made in years—I'm definitely not photogenic."

"I wish you had not said that," he answered. "There is no reason why you shouldn't take a fine picture, but if you feel like that about it, the chances are you won't."

"But, I feel this way because of previous experience."

"You probably had a picture made that wasn't good. The next time you tried, doubt got between you and the camera. When the picture was done it wasn't good either."

"But," I persisted, "how can there be doubt showing in a photograph?"

"I don't know how to explain it, but there it is. What you think shows in the picture. Something almost tangible lies between you and the film."

I knew that he was right. As I prepared to face the camera I sang a little tune. I had faith that he would get a good picture.

He took six poses. Today I saw the proofs, and they are all remarkably satisfactory. Not one could be called a poor likeness of me.

I asked my photographer friend if he used this principle in all phases of his life. He looked so confused that I am certain he had not thought of it before. I am going to send him a copy of this article just to be sure that he thinks of it in the future. He taught me a fine lesson—and one good turn deserves another—Margaret Harfield in Good Business.

Nuggets of Thought

Every man has three characteristics—that which he exhibits, that which he has, and that which he thinks he has.—Alphonse Karr.

It is better to suffer wrong than to do it, and happier to be sometimes cheated than not to trust.—Samuel Johnson.

It is not alone what we do, but also what we do not do, for which we are accountable.—Molatre.

The joy of life is to put out one's power in some natural and useful or harmless way.—Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr.

The heart of the wise, like a mirror, should reflect all objects, without being sullied by any.—Confucius.

The Bible in Geology

That the Standard Oil Company has discovered oil and is operating wells in Egypt is generally known, but its reason for going to that ancient land to look for oil is probably not so well known.

It is asserted that the attention of someone connected with the company was attracted by the statement in Exodus 2:3, that the ark of bulrushes which the mother of Moses made for her child was "daubed with slime and with pitch."

Reasoning that where there was pitch there was oil, and if there ever was oil in Egypt it was probably still there, the company sent out a geologist to investigate, with the result that oil was discovered.

Results of Play

Most of the great discoveries are the result of an avocation, a plaything during rest time.

The father of photography was an army officer; and of the electric motor, a book-binder's clerk. The inventor of the telegraph was a portrait painter; of the jacquard loom, a dressmaker. A farmer invented the typewriter; a poet, the sewing machine; a cabinet maker, the cotton gin; and a coal miner, the locomotive. The telephone was the after-school work of a teacher of the deaf; the disc talking machine, the night work of a clothing salesman; the wax cylinder phonograph, of a lawyer's clerk; the typesetting machine, a grocery man. A physician made the first pneumatic tire because his little son was an invalid.

Wheat Growers and Vote

You can read rising grower discontent with the wheat program into a careful study of results of this year's wheat marketing quota referendum.

Of 39 states participating, 13 failed to come through with the required two-thirds margin for quotas on the 1960 crop. In last year's referendum, only seven of 38 participating states failed to deliver a two-thirds margin. Total vote fell off more than 10 per cent from last year to a new low of under 200,000. Per centage of "yes" votes fell from 84.1 last year to 80.7 this year.

Some 20 per cent fewer growers voted in Oklahoma this time than last, approving the quotas by 80 per cent compared with 81.9 per cent in the 1958 referendum. In Texas the total vote was off about seven per cent with the "yes" percentage declining from 82.2 last

Owners of Livestock Urged to Watch Feeding of Frost-Bitten Green Silage

Johnson grass or sorghum after a frost is sometimes extremely high in prussic acid content and is very dangerous to livestock, warns Jones County Agent Kirby Clayton.

Certain chemical changes sometimes occur in the plant and it develops a content of prussic acid or hydrocyanic acid when wilted by frost or drought, he explains. The poison acts quickly and can kill an animal within a short time after the damaged plant is eaten.

An appearance of nervousness, difficult breathing and difficulty in standing are symptoms of the poisoning. Whether a poisoned animal can be saved depends upon how quickly a veterinarian can get to it. Treatment involves injecting antidotes directly into the blood stream.

Young plants will develop more prussic acid after frost or drought than those approaching maturity, points out Clayton. Their leaves will contain from three to 25 per cent more acid than leaves of plants in the boot stage. Also, supper, younger leaves will contain more acid than lower leaves.

Clayton cautions against grazing frosted Johnson grass or sorghum before it is completely dry. If Johnson grass or sorghum is ready to cut for hay before a frost, it may be cut the first day after the frost, if care is taken to see that it is completely cured before baling.

It may also be used for silage. Generally, enough prussic acid is lost in gaseous form during the ensiling process and as the silage is removed and fed to make it safe for livestock. However, animals should not be allowed to self feed from a silo filled with frosted sudan or sorghum. If the silage is questionable it should be chemically tested by a local veterinarian or by letting one or two inferior animals eat it.

Action May Mean More Social Security Benefits for Eligible

There are three times for action on your social security account: (1) When you reach retirement age (65 for men, 62 for women); (2) if you become so severely disabled that you cannot work any more; and (3) someone in your family should get in touch with the social security office soon after your death, declares R. R. Tuley Jr., manager of the Abilene district office of the Social Security Administration, in a release to The Hamlin Herald. Delays in so doing can be costly.

A representative of the social security office will be in area towns for the next three months as follows: Aspermont on October 16, November 13 and December 11; Hamlin on October 2 and 30 and November 27; Rotan on October 9 and 23, November 6 and 20 and December 4 and 18; Stamford on October 8 and 22, November 5 and 19 and December 3 and 17.

PSEUDONYM

The hillbilly took a pen handed to him by a hotel clerk and signed the register with an X. Thoughtfully he hesitated, then drew a circle around the X.

"A lot of people sign with an X," said the clerk, "but that's the first time I've ever seen it circled."

"Tain't nothin' so dad-burned odd about it," retorted the mountaineer. "When I'm out for a wild time I just don't use my right name."

ABOUT RIGHT ANYWAY.

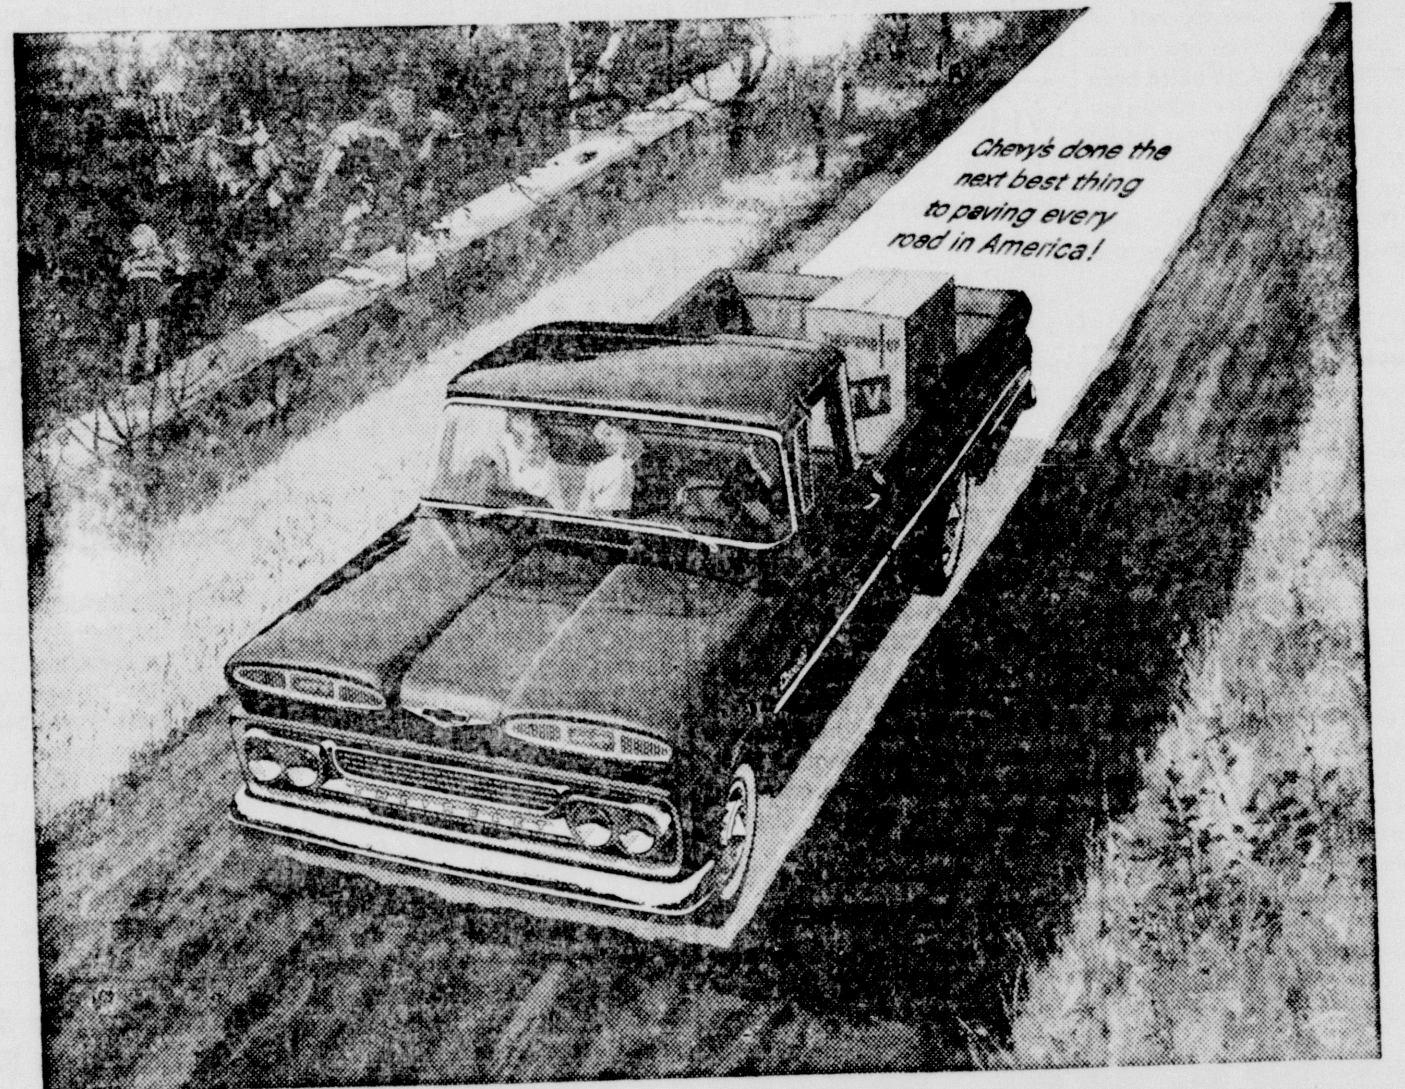

A certain business man was in a pullman smoker when the general pest approached him and attempted to start a conversation with this question: "How many people work in your office?"

"Oh," replied the quiet gentleman, getting up and throwing away his cigar, "I should say, at a rough guess, about half."

Safety Leader Urges Accident Caution For Youngsters as Hallowe'en Nears

J. I. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, sends this reminder to moms and dads as a Hallowe'en safety thought:

"The highway isn't the only hazardous spot for Hallowe'eners. The home and its surroundings can be just as big a booby trap."

That tip from one of the state's leading safety experts, who believes adults have an obligation to keep the trick-or-treaters safe as they tramp from house to house Saturday night—served as advance warning to parents that the annual observance of All Saints Day (Hallowe'en to you) is upon us.

"Most motorists," Musick said, "know you can't count on excited youngsters to play it safe, so they exercise extra caution when driving on Hallowe'en."

"Many home owners, though, haven't learned their lesson quite so well."

"Home owners have a moral responsibility to keep youngsters safe at Hallowe'en. Furthermore, in many instances home owners can be legally responsible if someone is injured on their property."

How can you guard against a tragedy that may mar a child's Hallowe'en. Follow these and similar suggestions, Musick recommends:

Steers Fed Hormones Show Greater Gains and Return Increased Profits

Hereford steers receiving hormone implants averaged a daily gain of one-half pound more than steers in the same group not implanted, announces Kirby Clayton, county agent. In tests conducted at the Southwestern Great Plains Field Station at Bushland in 1958. The tests were made to determine the value of a sorghum ration with and without hormone implants.

Fifteen steers were implanted with 36 milligrams each of diethylstilbestrol (Pfizer Stimplant); 15 with estradiol-progesterone (Squibb Synovex); and the remaining 15 were not implanted. County Agent Clayton said the steers were started on feed July 1, 1958, at an average weight of 849 pounds. They were moved to the feed lot directly from station pastures and, without shrink, were charged to the feed lot at $24 per 100.

The 45 head were fed in one lot and all figures on costs and feed consumption are averages. The average ration for 122 days consisted of 14.68 pounds of ground sorghum grain, 2.04 pounds of cottonseed meal with 55.15 pounds of sorghum silage. Terramycin was added to the ration to supply 75 milligrams daily per steer. Silage was full fed from the outset with the allowance of cottonseed meal. Grain was fed in increasing amounts, reaching about 20 pounds daily per head at the close. Feed records and individual steer weights were kept by months.

The steers were trucked to Fort Worth on November 14, said Clayton, and were sold by separate treatments for slaughter. Individual market and carcass weights were obtained.

The stilbestrol implanted steers gained an average of 2.94 pounds per day, and the Synovex implanted steers gained an average of 2.71 pounds. The non-implanted animals gained an average of 2.12 pounds per day. The final weights after the 122-day feeding period were: Non-implanted, 1,109 pounds; stilbestrol implanted, 1,210 pounds; and Synovex implanted, 1,178 pounds. The warm carcass weights for the stilbestrol, Synovex and non-implanted steers were: 711.3, 681.9 and 657.4 pounds respectively. Returns over all costs except labor and interest were $23.28 for the stilbestrol implanted, $7.58 for the Synovex implanted, and a loss of 50 cents for the non-implanted.

If you would like more information on this, contact the county agent's office for a copy of PR-3096, progress report on this project.

Stamford Man Is Appointed Crew Leader for Census

Appointment of Joe W. Astin of Stamford as a crew leader for the 1959 census of agriculture was announced this week by Fiel. Director James W. Stroud of the census bureau's regional office at Dallas.

Astin will direct a force of census takers who will canvass all farms in Fisher and Jones Counties. Before assuming his post he will go to Graham where he will receive five days of training by a member of the census bureau's staff. Topics to be covered include procedures for recruiting of census takers, census taker training, canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and the supervision of census takers to insure a complete and accurate count.

The crew leader is one of the key people in the field operations of the census of agriculture. It is his responsibility to recruit and train the census takers and supervise their work; plan and allocate work assignments; review the work of the census takers and take remedial action where necessary; and to conduct difficult interviews.

After completing his training, Astin will return to his district, where he will spend several weeks recruiting census takers, and training them in preparation for

Leptospirosis Taking Big Toll in Cattle of Nation, Says Agent

Warm, wet summer weather is likely to bring an increase in the threat of leptospirosis, a disease which causes national annual losses of more than $112,000,000 in cattle alone, warns Jones County Agent Kirby Clayton.

The increased fight against brucellosis in recent years, has uncovered many cases of "lepto" which formerly were thought to be brucellosis. The similarity of symptoms of the two diseases has led to some confusion among livestock men, Clayton noted.

In cattle both diseases cause abortions and reduction in milk production. Signs of leptospirosis in cattle also include loss of appetite, depression, breathing difficulty and in calves scouring. Affected swine may show no symptoms in some cases, but in others there will be abortions, scouring and loss of appetite.

Leptospirosis, target of a concerted drive this month during National Loss Prevention Week, can be prevented by having susceptible animals vaccinated.

Clayton also suggests that a veterinarian be called at once if suspicious symptoms appear so a definite diagnosis can be made before any treatment or control program is started.

Wide-Track wheels!

A car is a living thing.

And all living things must change.

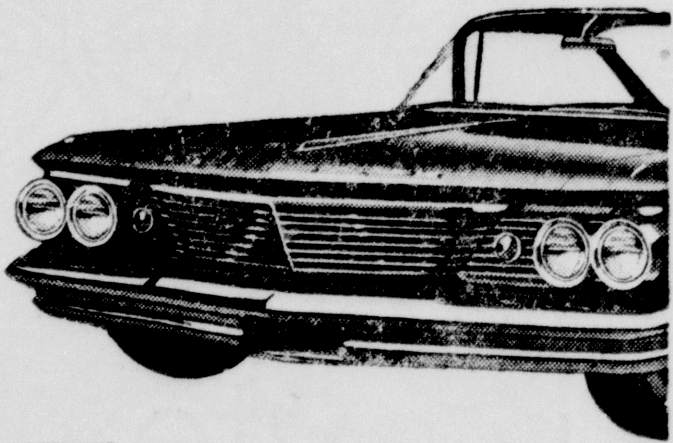

This is why the creative car builders of Pontiac took the proved principle of Wide-Track Wheel Design and surrounded it with fresh, exhilarating, totally new beauty for 1960.

The prow is styled for excitement.

The horizontal bars bear the artistry of the classical.

The perfect profile comes from just-right proportion, unity, rhythm.

The clean, graceful back contributes character where other cars seem only to reflect confusion.

Its effect upon your attitude toward driving and owning cars can be quite radical.

For you cannot possess this automobile and be anything less than lighthearted. You cannot control it and be anything less than sportive about driving.

You cannot be seen in it and be anything less than buoyantly proud.

Using Timely Tips on Seams Can Add Dressmaker Touch to Home Sewing

Seams that stretch spoil the fit and shape of any garment. To avoid this mishap when you are sewing, follow these tips:

With chiffon and sheers, cut and stitch them tacked to a layer of tissue. Expert dressmakers leave the pattern pieces on the different sections so there is a layer of tissue over and under these delicate, slippery fabrics. Seams are sewed through all three thicknesses.

One layer of tissue, placed underneath, is enough for jersey. But tear away the tissue carefully, as yanking or pulling to get the long pieces off will stretch the seam.

Sometimes seams have to be taped or "stayed" to keep them as when first sewed. All the seams in a very stretchy fabric may need this treatment. Shrink the tape, lay it along the seam, and baste or pin the two at once. Stitching should be done near the edge of the tape. Or it can be applied by hand. Sew in short, neat running stitches along the machine sewed waistline.

THE MODEST TYPE.

At a dinner party one evening a lady was introduced to a tall, rangy Texan.

"Oh, you are one of those rich Texans I've heard so much about?", she gushed.

"Wal, Ah guess so," answered the other.

"Tell me, are you an oil man?"

"Nope."

"Cattle?"

"No, ma'am."

"How about real estate?"

"Wal I reckon. I have about 36 acres."

"That doesn't sound like much," the lady commented dubiously.

"No, ma'am, mebbe not," the Texan said slowly, "but my 36 acres are called downtown Dallas."

YOU CAN USUALLY FIND THAT HARD TO FIND ITEM AT BUIE'S IN STAMFORD FROM PIANOS TO WATER PUMPS-TRACTORS TO FURNITURE-SEE BUIE'S-STAMFORD.

Taping most often is needed at the waistline where the bodice and skirt are joined together, where bias seams have been sewed, and around necklines. Sometimes a line of stay stitching is sufficient to keep the material in place, but at others only tape will give good results.

Where there is considerable fitting or handling to be done, bias edges sometimes are given temporary taping only. That is, they are basted to tape merely to keep them in place while the garment is being constructed. When the seams have been sewed, the tape is removed.

For tailoring, you will need to use tape inside the front edges of jackets and coats and in lapels. With these the tape edge comes just over the seamline, leaving it placed so that the main part does not lie in the seam allowance but in the jacket area.

Husbands Entertained at Spaghetti Supper by Beta Theta Sorority Group

Beta Theta Sorority members entertained their husbands with a spaghetti supper Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the oil mill guest house.

A Halloween theme was used for the table decorations and throughout the entertaining room. An orange cloth covered the serving table centered by an arrangement of orange pyracantha in a black bowl flanked by small orange candles. Halloween hats, masks and noise makers were also used in the table decorations.

Foursome tables were covered with black cloths centered with pumpkins and orange candles. During the evening games of forty-two and bridge were enjoyed by attendants. High scores for the forty-two games were made by Mrs. Neil Laminack and W. A. Hawkins, and for bridge games by Mrs. Wilson Brannon and D. C. Andrews.

In charge of arrangements and acting as hostesses for the supper were members of the social committee composed of Mmes. Wilson Brannon, Billy Joe Wilson, Fred B. Moore Jr. and W. A. Hawkins. STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin.—It is more than a year until the day when the next president of the United States will be elected, but in Texas, the race is on.

From now until November 8, 1960, may well be a year of the most feverish political activity the state ever has known.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn fired the starting gun by calling for an all-out campaign to win the Democratic presidential nomination for U. S. Senator Lyndon Johnson. Rayburn called for Johnson-for-President or organizations in every county in Texas.

A campaign kick-off by the man who has often been called "Mr. Democrat" gave enormous impetus to the activities of Johnson supporters. Pro-Johnson clubs, rallies, and editorials blossomed over the state. Governor Price Daniel and the state executive committee had previously pledged support.

Speaker Rayburn's sponsorship also makes exceedingly difficult the position of Texas' liberal wing Democrats, who have been cool toward the senator since the convention hassles of 1956.

In 1952, Rayburn championed the liberals in their battle against a conservative party leadership working for Eisenhower. But the same group, now the Democrats of Texas Club members, will have to fly in the face of their old friend, Rayburn, if they decide on open opposition to Senator Johnson this year.

Some DOTers have pledged Johnson support. But Mrs. R. D. Randolph, leader, refused to commit herself on grounds the senator has not declared himself a candidate.

Numerous Accident Injuries Suffered by Texans Every Year

More than 52,334 Texans—more persons than live in Dallas—suffered accidental injuries during the past year, according to the Texas Safety Association.

Among these injuries, the association reports more than 70,000 persons were injured in home accidents. That is roughly the population of Abilene or Midland. TSA also notes that as many persons as live in Austin were injured while at work in 1958. And more Texans suffered injuries in auto accidents than live in Amarillo, Waco or Beaumont. Furthermore, the cost of all Texas' accidents for 1958 exceeds $445,000,000, or approximately $49.50 for every man, woman and child in the Lone Star State.

House members on the Texas Commission on State and Local Tax Policy will be Representatives Frates Seeligen of San Antonio, V. L. Ramsey of Beckville and J. Gordon Bristow of Big Spring.

This group will further the study of the state's fiscal structure begun in 1958-59 by the State Tax Study Commission. Specifically, the new group will consider such problems as whether the property tax should be abandoned or overhauled.

also are to serve on this panel to study and recommend improvements in health and welfare programs.

Adoption Stymied.—Texas Supreme Court ruled in favor of a woman who signed papers to allow her child to be adopted, then changed her mind and sought to reclaim the baby.

Though the court specified it was ruling only on the case at hand, some felt the decision might set precedent for future cases in this emotion-packed area of the law.

In the case at hand, the mother, unwed at the time of the child's birth, wanted to keep the baby.

After a doctor and welfare officials talked to her, she changed her mind and signed a waiver.

A juvenile judge declared the child "dependent and neglected" and sent him to another county for adoption. Within a few weeks, however, the mother married the child's father and filed suit for the child.

High court opinion was that the lower court erred in declaring the child "dependent and neglected."

Bus Keeps Permit.—In another case the Supreme Court ruled the Texas Railroad Commission could grant a bus line a permit to use a certain route even though the road was not finished.

Southwestern Greyhound Lines received a permit to use Highway 73 between Port Arthur and Houston before that road was complete. Sabine-Neches Trailways sued to have the certificate cancelled.

Court held that the Railroad Commission was required only to "know in a general way" about the traffic potentials of a route.

Gas Tax Challenged.—First of what will probably be many suits attacking the constitutionality of the new severance beneficiary tax on natural gas has been filed in an Austin district court.

Pipeline companies promised to fight the tax in court when it was passed by the Legislature this year.

A tax of 1.5 per cent of the value of the gas is levied on the purchaser, such as a pipeline that contracts to buy it from the producer.

A similar sort of law, the gas gathering tax passed in 1951, was knocked down by the courts.

Governor Daniel worked persistently for the new gas tax, an issue that helped keep lawmakers at loggerheads for many months. He promised to help fight the suits. "Long line gas companies fought hard against accepting any of the tax load," said the governor. Now, he added, some want to escape "scot free."

Employment Forms Mailed Out by IRS

Employment tax forms have been mailed to 98,213 North Texas employers, according to Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue.

This is the third year Internal Revenue Service has mailed the employment tax forms, Form W-3, Form W-4, Form 7018 and Form 941-A in the packages, Publication No. 393. Form W-3 is not contained in the package this year but will be mailed to employers with the fourth quarter mailing of Forms 941.

The package also contains a form for large employers to use in ordering extra forms.

Dr. J. W. McCrary Dies of Attack as He Treats Patient

While at work with a dental patient at his office Tuesday morning, Dr. Joseph William McCrary, 59-year-old dentist of Hamlin, succumbed to a heart attack. A resident of the community since 1914, he had been having heart difficulties for several years, but the attack Tuesday morning came suddenly.

Born on June 15, 1900, near Franklin, he was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Leroy P. McCrary. He came with his family to Hamlin when it was a growing young city, and his father practiced medicine here for many years. He attended Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene and graduated from Baylor Dental College at Dallas. He married the former Jodie Keller at Hamlin on May 24, 1921.

Active in civic, school and church affairs for many years, he was a member of the First Methodist Church, Lions Club and Masonic Lodge. He had been a member of the school board, and held various offices in the Lions Club.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the First Methodist Church. Officiating were Rev. Edmund W. Robb, pastor, and Rev. Gene Moore, pastor of the Faith Methodist Church.

Burial was in the Hamlin East Cemetery under the direction of Hamlin Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Arlie Castle, Jake Weir, Carl Phenix, Normie Crowley, Ira Clements, Sam Bruner, Stan Shepard of Bay City and Phil Hubert of Abilene.

Surviving the long time dentist are his mother, Mrs. Victoria McCrary; his widow, Mrs. Jodie McCrary; two daughters, Mrs. Bill (Jo Anne) Harbert of Hamlin and Mrs. H. M. (Sue) Drake of Abilene; one sister, Mrs. A. M. Rhodes of Tulsa, Oklahoma; four grandchildren.

Pied Pipers Host Seymour in District 6-AA Tilt Friday

Pipers Lighter Than Panthers, But Look Better

When the Seymour High School Panthers come to town tomorrow (Friday) night for a crucial conference game between two foes that have not lost a District 6-AA tilt, fans of the two cities will be set for a melee that may well be a final rating for the loser.

The Pied Pipers, with a more impressive season record with seven successive victories, will be hard pressed by a rejuvenated Seymour crew that has already won two district games although they have lost two and tied one non-conference tilt.

The Panthers have lost to Crowley 6 to 22 and to Olney 6 to 15; tied Crozier Tech of Dallas 6-6; and defeated Munday 33 to 0, Electra 28 to 0, Childress 28 to 14, Anson 36 to 6 and Haskell 36 to 0.

In comparing game with two common foes, Hamlin and Seymour look about evenly matched. Hamlin beat Childress 25 to 6 while Seymour trimmed the Bobcats 28 to 14. Hamlin pasted the Haskell Indians by only 19 to 0 while Seymour singed the feathers in their head-pieces 36 to 0 last week-end.

According to the weight sheet of Seymour players submitted in the line-up for Friday night's tilt, the Pied Pipers will be out-weighted a few pounds per man. Two Panthers weigh more than 210 pounds, another five weigh more than 180 pounds.

Coaches D. C. Andrews, Jimmy Vaughan and Neil Laminack of the Pied Pipers say their boys are in good shape for the game.

Albany Cubs Trounce Hamlin Crew 54 to 6

Powerful Albany Junior High School Cubs gave the Hamlin Mighty Mice a 54 to 6 shellacking last Tuesday night. Larry Butler scored the lone Hamlin touchdown on a reverse of about 40 yards.

Outstanding players for Hamlin were Gary Ted Jay, Doyle Bell, Ronnie Sipe and Cleon Warner. Hamlin's Mighty Mice will be host to the Anson Cubs next Tuesday night on the Pied Piper gridiron.

time rival cities is expected to see the game, which will get underway at 7:30 o'clock.

McCaulley Eagles Drop Thursday Tilt To Ira by 28 to 0 Score

McCaulley's Eagles penetrated Ira High Schools five-yard line four times Thursday night in a six-man football game at McCaulley but could never cross the goal line, and the visitors blanked the host war-birds 38 to 0 in a District 4 tilt.

McCaulley's record for the season is now eight losses to no wins, and Ira has won six and lost two.

Ira scored all its points in the first and third periods. Travis Alexander ran six yards for the initial marker and Donnell Eubanks kicked the extra points. Elvin Loper scored with a run of 21 yards.

In the third quarter Eubanks and Donnie Dove collaborated on a 60-yard pass play for Ira's third touchdown and Eubanks again kicked the extra points. Dove ran 20 yards for the final six-pointer. McCaulley plays Blackwell this week-end.

Seventh Graders Beat Rotan Squad 18 to 8

Hamlin Junior High's seventh grade gridders outscored the Rotan seventh grade team three touchdowns to two last Wednesday afternoon at Pper stadium. That made the score 18 to 8.

Scoring for Hamlin were one by Rupert Compton and two by Mike Shivers. Rotan scored on an 85-yard punt return, then ran over the extra points.

Hamlin Hunters Get Two Deer in Colorado

S. C. Ballew and Edgar Duncan returned last week-end from a several-day deer hunt in Western Colorado. Ballew bagged two mule deer, and Duncan—well, he thinks maybe he may get to go again.

The weather was fine, they said. Snow had fallen up on the mountainsides.

PLENTY OF KICK HERE—McMurry College Co-ed Deana Barnes executes the art of a graceful kick, while Hamlin back Don Howard watches with keen interest. The petite senior's measurements are 37-25-36, while Howard tapes in at five feet 11 inches and 174 pounds.

Wildlife Conservation in U.S. Becomes More Vital, Points Out Congressman

When thinking of conservation we usually think first of soil and water, observes Congressman Omar Burleson of Anson, in his weekly news release to The Herald. Soil and water are first in conservation and are basic to all other measures and efforts dealing with it.

However, the conservation of natural resources includes many things, such as the forest, and even the birds and the bees.

An unusual conservation measure has just passed Congress. It prohibits the wanton destruction of wild horses in several of the Northwest states where they are still to be found.

During recent years hunters of wild horses have used airplanes and other noise-making devices to flush the horses out of the hills down into the flats, where they can be roped from a jeep and, in some cases, shot.

The use of horse meat for cat and dog food has apparently become a big business. The wild horses in Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and parts of Idaho are not caught for domestic purposes, but for the meat factory.

The bill just passed would prohibit the destruction of wild horses by these methods. Like the buffalo and the prairie dog, they are rapidly being destroyed.

The destruction of predatory animals for conservation purposes has become a local issue in many places. Not everyone has been aware of the dispute between those who want coyotes destroyed because they catch their chickens and those who have hounds and like to hunt.

The present day generation may not be aware of the campaign against the prairie dog—the little monster who is immaculately clean and keeps his floor swept free of growing crops, grass and shrubs.

Only a few years ago these chubby little animals numbered in hundreds of millions in Texas, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico, Arizona, Nebraska and the Dakotas. He is not found anywhere in the world except the Great Plains of the United States.

In the days when a prairie dog town covered 50 or more acres on the Burleson farm in Jones County a one-boy campaign was constantly waged to keep the father and older brothers from destroying the prairie dogs by poisoning.

The method of poisoning was, to me, ingenious. Liquid carbon monoxide (commonly known as high life) was soaked into a certain substance for conveyance, rolled in the hole, dirt packed on top of crossed sticks and soon created a gas which killed these chatty, sociable and comic little creatures unless they got air.

Creeping and crawling along behind, a five-year-old boy would pull the sticks out and let the dirt roll down, as the father and older brothers went to the next hole.

This was conservation of the prairie dog, but not exactly recommended as a method to conserve growing crops and to permit the proper use of the land.

Flash, fowl and wildlife which are protected by the game laws and sanctuaries are a tremendously important part of conservation. More stringent methods are going to be needed because the numbers of wild game and fish are becoming fewer and fewer.

This year, by reason of the disturbance by human development of the nesting places of ducks, the numbers are less by approximately one-third. As a result, most states will reduce the hunt-

Hamlin Girls Invited To Participate in Roller Rink Contests

Anson Roller Rink has elected two girls by majority vote for the Skate Queen contest at Abilene November 8 at the Plaza Skate Bowl. They are Loretta Herring, age 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Herring, and Rebecca Adcock, age 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Adcock, both of Anson. Both girls are sophomores at Anson High School.

These girls will represent Anson in the Abilene competition with about 85 other roller skating queens. Winner of the state contest will represent Texas in the national skating contest November 16-18 at Miami, Florida. Contestants will be judged on beauty, poise, neatness and figure.

All girls between 16 and 22 are eligible to enter a local contest sponsored by the Anson Roller Rink for the district, it is announced, and girls of the Hamlin area are invited to participate.

hawks and even snakes, the more mice, rats and other rodents. The fewer foxes, the more crows, and so on.

Conservation is a big business and is becoming more so as time goes on.

It behooves all of us to take an interest in it, even if we are not a hunter or a fisherman, but simply live beside the road.

Seymour and Stamford Win District Games Friday as Pied Pipers Stay Idle

Seymour's High School Panthers strengthened their position in the area's football showcase and the Stamford Bulldogs further flexed their championship muscles last week-end with victories over conference foes, while the Hamlin Pied Pipers were idle.

Seymour defeated the hapless Haskell Indians 36 to 0, and the Bulldogs trounced Anson 35 to 0.

Seymour scored in all four quarters, with one touchdown in the first, two each in the second and third, and a field goal in the fourth. Scoring for Seymour were Joe Bob Chandler, and three by Billy Tom McCarty. Halfback Jerry Lee Howell kicked the field goal from about the 22-yard spot in the fourth quarter.

Stamford made 16 first downs with 355 yards on the ground and 31 yards on two of five pass completions. Haskell made eight first downs with 57 yards on the ground and five pass completions of 13 tries for 51 yards.

Stamford's Bulldogs did the expected thing in downing the Anson Tigers 35 to 0 Friday night in a tilt at Stamford. It was Stamford's first district game of the season, and along with Hamlin they have a seven won, none lost record.

The Bulldogs overpowered the Tigers and scored in every quarter except the third.

Tallying for Stamford were Tom Lovvorn (three) and Henson (two). Henson gained more than 100 yards in 10 carries for the Bulldogs.

Ronnie Bailey was the leading ball carrier for Anson, getting 13 yards in the 12 times he toted the pigskin.

Stamford made 22 first downs with 328 yards rushing and 113 yards in completing eight of 20 aerials. Anson made three first downs on 53 yards on the ground and 13 yards by completing two of 11 pass throws.

Junior Squads Play Two Tilts with Anson

A double bill of football between junior high school teams of Anson and Hamlin is scheduled next Tuesday evening at the Pied Piper stadium.

The seventh grade game starts at 6:00 p. m., and eighth grade teams clash immediately after the seventh grade tilt ends.

Hamlin seventh grade team has won four straight games, defeating Anson, Haskell, and Rotan twice. The Hamlin eighth graders have dropped five straight melees.

Workings of BCD Committees Topic At Lions Program

"Instinct to build our cities is an ancient one," reminded Max Murrell, chairman of a committee from the Hamlin Board of Community Development, as he introduced a program at the Tuesday noon luncheon meeting of Hamlin Lions Club that is being presented to various civic and women's club to acquaint them with the program of the BCD. He was assisted in the presentation by Wesley Nail and W. T. Johnson, who showed by charts the program of work of various BCD committees.

"Our community can grow only as we increase our prosperity and wealth and improve our civic, educational and cultural facilities," Murrell further declared as a preface for concerted committee action. He said increased prosperity means not only community advancement but more and better jobs for every resident.

Nail and Johnson outlined the programs of action planned by the agriculture and livestock, civic affairs, housing, highway and transportation, industrial development, and trade development committees.

Charles Ashbaker was presented as a new member of the club. Installation ceremonies are slated at a later meeting.

Next Tuesday's program period, it was announced, will be taken up with organization of members for the annual sale of brooms and other articles made by the blind. Net proceeds from the sales will be used by the club for local work among those with deficient sight.

Labor Law That Is Fair to Labor and Management Is Vital, Says Burleson

"There ought to be a law!" How often we have heard this, comments Congressman Omar Burleson of Anson in his weekly news release to The Herald from Washington. He says further: In some instances it would be entirely appropriate to say there should not be a law.

That is about the situation connected with efforts to produce some sort of a labor reform bill in the Congress. The so-called Kennedy-Irvin bill recently passed by the United States Senate by a vote of 90 to 1 seemingly pleases no one. On the other hand, at the time of passage the only real opposition was to the so-called McClellan "bill of rights."

Since the bill is now in the House of Representatives, it is opposed by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers and the large labor unions. This all makes for very strange bedfellows. Of course, they oppose it for different reasons. The National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce say the bill is too weak. Many labor union leaders say it is too strong. All of them say they are opposed to corruption, but supposedly everyone is also against crime and sin, unless it is Jimmy Hoffa. Just being against corruption does not require much courage, nor does it say in specifics what is being opposed or advocated. Comparatively few people have had occasion to read the Kennedy-Irvin bill or the several bills pending in the House of Representatives proposed as substitutes for the Senate measure.

Sweeping generalities made for the purpose of arousing the emotions among various segments of the population is not something on which legislation can be based. Legislation must deal with the exact and technical language that is to become law. Platitudes are not that kind of language.

Unless one looks at the situation realistically and from the standpoint of enacting a good law, he will reach conclusions only on what he hears and what he reads. If what one hears and what he reads is from only one source and based only on the proposition that "there ought to be a law," the opinion may be based on emotion.

For practical reason legislation is usually a matter of compromise to attain the possible.

The need for labor reform legislation is clear and indisputable. On this point most can agree, but exactly what is needed and the method of attaining it as a matter of law is something else. To burn down a barn to get rid of the rats has proved not to be the best method of rodent control.

Any labor bill should allow the rank and file union member to vote secretly by ballot for his officers. The member of the union should know for what his union funds are being spent and have some control over them. He should be afforded his individual freedom from within his organization and protected against racketeering and unscrupulous leaders.

It should not be to break and destroy honest unions. Both management and labor should have protection under the law from hoodlums and their criminal actions. It follows, of course, that the general public would be protected.

"There ought to be a law" strong enough to get the job done; realistic enough to be enforced; and fair enough to both management and the unions to be respected. It is too much to expect that the Congress can enact labor legislation wholly acceptable to labor and wholly acceptable to management. Human nature being what it is, this could hardly be expected. If everyone is to be pleased there will be no labor bill. If the public is to be protected from those who act bigger than the government itself, then reform legislation is of vital necessity.

Relatives Visit in Elmer Andress Home

Several relatives were guests last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Andress. They were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Meador of Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. Will Andress of Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Andress and children, Autry Do and Ray Allen, of McCaulley, Mrs. Albert Andress of Brownfield, Mrs. Ethel Bates of Brownfield, Mrs. Buck Andress and Tommy Sue, Floyd Andress of El Paso, Mrs. Herman Mayfield of Roby and Mrs. E. H. Latham of Hamlin.

Social Security Regulations May Change Eligibility

Each of us has either lost a prized possession or wondered what we would do if he did suffer such a loss.

Workers who are 65 years of age or over (women age 62 or over) may be suffering a loss of benefits if they do not know the meaning of retirement as it pertains to the social security law.

Retirement, as defined in the social security law, does not mean that you must be completely inactive, but rather that you are:

1. Working for wages or self-employment income of not over $2,080; or
2. You are age 72 or over (in which case amount of earnings has no effect regardless of how much you earn).

Individuals who earn over $2,080 in a year may still draw their social security benefits for any month in which they neither earn over $100 nor render substantial services in self-employment, regardless of their total earnings during the year.

If you have reached retirement age and have not as yet checked with the Abilene social security district office, you should contact them for an explanation of your individual case. You will be advised as to which income is included in your earnings and whether or not you will lose monthly payments by not making application for your benefits at that time.

Personnel of the Social Security Administration would like to know that everyone in their district is receiving all of the benefits to which they are entitled; however, this cannot be accomplished if you do not contact them for advice on your own account.

It is up to you to see that you are not the loser. A representative of the social security office will be at the city fire station in Hamlin on October 30 and November 27 to advise area people.

Brown Patch Disease In Lawns Can Be Curbed, Says Agent

Brown patch disease in St. Augustine grass and Bermuda grass is taking a heavy toll in Central and East Texas now and will probably continue until late winter and early spring. This disease can be controlled if proper measures are used, according to Kirby Clayton, Jones County agent.

Pentachloronitrobenzene (PCNB) 75 per cent wettable powder can be used for control. One pound mixed with water will cover 1,000 square feet of turf. Enough water should be mixed with the chemical to thoroughly soak the solution throughout the old grass clippings and down to the soil beneath the grass. Clayton cautions against applying excessive amounts of the chemical. Only two applications a year will give control, and more than this may result in a toxicity problem.

Where the disease is already present applications are more effective if made during the first 24 hours following a rain or irrigation. If the disease covers a large area at the time of application you can expect some results in two to three weeks.

Proper use of fertilizer and water will help prevent the disease. Brown patch is apt to occur on lawns that have received excess amounts of water and fertilizer. Grass should not be watered late in the evening.

Other hints for preventing brown patch are: Fill in with soil and level low spots where water tends to accumulate; avoid letting thick layers of old grass clippings or "thatch" accumulate; and mow properly.

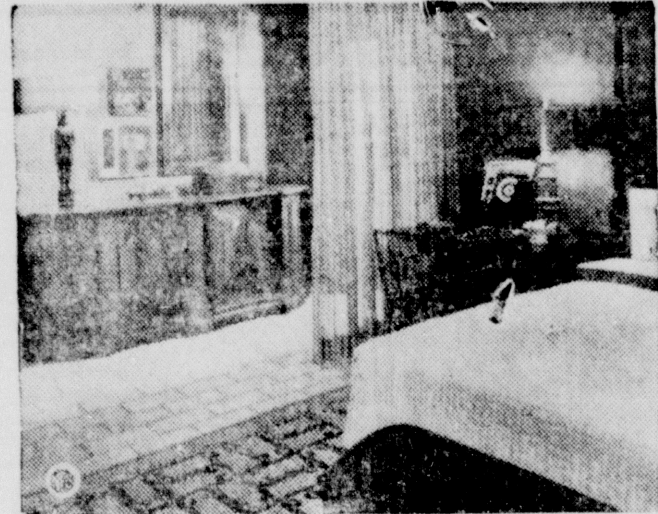

It's bad enough to be a quitter. But it's worse to finish something, you never should have started.

FENCED YARD, CONCRETE CELLAR, AND SMALL RENT HOUSE

E. C. Gray

COUNTRY HOME IN THE CITY—Interior decorator Melanie Kahane, AID, catches the feeling of suburban living in this urban apartment bedroom in New York's Washington Square Village. The color scheme is keyed to the acid green walls, the bedspread in a textured white cotton and the black chest at the foot of the bed. Sheer cotton draperies separate the sleeping and dressing areas.

Directors Named At Stonewall FB Session Thursday

Five directors were named for the coming year when more than 100 people turned out for the Stonewall County Farm Bureau's annual county-wide convention in the county court room at Aspermont, held last Thursday evening.

Beno A. Erdman, president of the county unit, called the meeting to order. Special guest was Millard Shivers, state organization director. Guest speakers for the evening were Paul Marion and William P. Hatchett, both of the Spur Experimental Station.

County resolutions were presented and passed to send to the state convention to be held November 8 to 11 at San Antonio.

Following the resolutions came the election of new directors, who were DeLox Callicotte of Old Glory, A. C. McNutt of Swenson, W. H. Vahlemkamp of Old Glory, B. A. Erdman of Old Glory and Frederick Dalby of Aspermont.

Highlighting the evening of entertainment were the results of the local 4-H theme writing contest. Truett Hennig, county agent, announced John Godfrey of Aspermont as winner from the senior division, and Judy White of Old Glory as winner from the junior division.

Refreshments were served to attendants at the close of the session.

AGAINST HEAVY ODDS.

Henry Smith, a meek looking little man accused of murder, was in court.

"The state of Texas versus Henry Smith," intoned the clerk. "Taint fair!" moaned Henry. "That's too big a majority."

Only Just Income Tax Desired by Uncle Sam

A lot of people feel that the tax laws are not fair, declares Tax Man Sam in a release to The Herald. Somehow or other this feeling seems highest around income tax paying time when you have to shell out those dollars you may have saved for something else.

Internal Revenue employees have a very serious job in trying to collect all the tax each taxpayer owes as well as helping taxpayers to pay no more than they owe. These people are trained to determine how much you owe under a fair interpretation of the law as passed by Congress. They collect the dollars belonging to Uncle Sam and try to make sure that you keep the dollars that belong to you. All of us can hope that they do a good job. It makes the tax law fairer for all.

$5.35 for September Milk Producers Get

Number of producers supplying milk to Central West Texas handlers were 500 compared to 528 during September, 1958, and 654 during September, 1957. The daily delivery per producer during September was 987 compared to 874 pounds during September a year earlier.

Living Costs Still Soar, Government Reports Reveal

The consumer's dollar lost about a third of a penny's worth of buying power last month as the cost of living mounted to another record peak. This was the discouraging word to householders of the Hamlin area and the rest of the nation this week in an announcement from Washington to The Herald.

Department of Labor's index for September, made public Friday, showed a rise of three-tenths of one per cent in consumer prices. It was the fifth increase in six months.

The bureau's price chief, Hersey S. Riley, said part of the price rise was seasonal. He rejected a reporter's suggestion that inflation was creeping again.

But there seemed to be at least an even chance that the index for October would show another increase. This report will be completed a month from now.

Auto and fuel prices are due to be higher. The October 1 increase in the federal gasoline tax alone is sufficient to raise the entire index by one-tenth of one per cent.

On the other hand food prices—representing about 30 per cent of the average city family's budget—are due for a seasonal decrease. In September they went up three-tenths of one per cent.

Housing costs rose three-tenths of one per cent last month. Gas, electricity and coal all advanced.

"Isn't it amazing," asked the pert young thing, "how those filling station people always seem to know exactly where to set up their pumps in order to get gas?"

Senior Class at HHS Completes Birthday Calendar Project

The 1960 senior sponsored community birthday calendar for Hamlin High School will have 848 names on it compared to 732 last year and 603 the year before, report officials of the group.

This year 309 calendars have been sold compared to the 285 and 280 sold the years before. A picture of the 1960 senior class will be on the calendar.

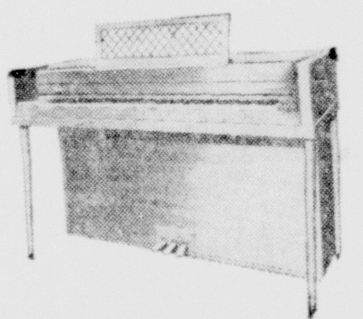

Thirty local merchants purchased space on the calendar. The seniors wish to extend a hearty "thank you" to everyone who has helped to make this such an outstanding calendar.

Sale of the good luck pins will continue for the Seymour game.

A chili supper is also being planned in connection with the school carnival, which will be held Saturday, November 7.

These projects of the senior class are used to raise funds for the annual senior trip, slated in May.

Motorists Urged to Check Validity of Drivers' Licenses

Do you have a valid driver's license? One that has expired is not valid and proves quite embarrassing and sometimes expensive if you are driving a motor vehicle, according to Major Wilson E. Speir of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Major Speir reminds us that approximately one out of 25 drivers are found to be operating without a valid license. Many of these actually thought their license was still valid—that is, until a patrolman checked the date of expiration.

The Department of Public Safety realized several years ago that a sizeable number of drivers overlooked the expiration date, so they instituted a system of mailing a courtesy reminder to each licensed driver in Texas shortly before it was to expire. This courtesy notice is put in the mail about a month before the license is to expire and it has instructions on how to renew by mail, or by presenting it at any driver's license office. However, this is only a courtesy notice, and you should not rely on receiving it in every instance. For various and sundry reasons some license holders fail to receive this notice according to word from Captain J. B. Hart of the Midland region driver's license office. He says that you may renew your license without the notice by presenting your old license at one of the driver's license offices, where driver's license personnel will gladly assist you.

These are not midge melons, however. They weigh from 25 to 35 pounds—just the right size to go in the refrigerator. Dense foliage on vines protects the melons from sunburn. The thick foliage also discourages weeds, an advantage that home gardeners will like. Seed are now on the market for the bush desert king, which was developed at Texas A. & M. It has the disadvantage of being yellow meated. Mr. Mohr, Texas A. & M. horticulturist, already has succeeded in breeding a red flesh watermelon of the bush type. However, it will be a year or two before seed are available. If you would like more information about the bush desert king watermelon, ask your county agent for a circular that gives the complete information.

New Law Changes Pension Payments to Veteran Dependents

Charles L. Morris, executive director of the Veterans Affairs Commission of Texas, this week announced from Austin the passage of public law 86-211, a law dealing with pensions to veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean conflict, and dealing with pensions to the dependents of deceased veterans who served during those wars. The law will become effective July 1, 1960.

Prior to passage of this law, the widow and/or dependent children of veterans of World War I have been eligible to receive pension benefits from Veterans Administration if their income was with certain limits as set forth by law. It was necessary that widows and orphans of World War II and Korean veterans meet the same income limitations and, in addition, they were required to show that the veteran husband (or father) had a service connected disability at the time of his death. Under the new law, it will not be necessary for dependents of World War II and Korean conflict veterans to show that the veteran possessed such disabilities at the time of his death.

Attendance Record Set at Texas State Fair

New national attendance record for annual expositions of the United States was established by the 1959 State Fair of Texas, which ended its run Sunday night, October 25, with a total attendance of 2,801,305. The new mark eclipsed the fair's previous record of 2,757,734 established only last year.

The 1959 fair set another record also—a new world's record for attendance on any one day at any annual fair anywhere. This record was set on Saturday, October 17 when 331,998 visitors clicked through the turnstiles. This broke the old single day attendance record, also held by the fair, of 325,741 on the middle Saturday of the fair in 1956.

Texas Ranger Force Increased to 52 Men

Texas Ranger force was increased this week to 52 men—one more than the complement which has been in effect for more than a decade, according to a release to The Herald from Austin.

Colonel Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety and chief of the Rangers, commissioned Everett Smith, sheriff of Sabine County for the past nine years, as the fifty-second Texas Ranger.

The addition to the authorized strength of the Rangers was made by the recent session of the Legislature. The new post was the first one added since September 1, 1947.

ON THE SET.

It was a death-bed scene, but the director was not satisfied with the hero's acting.

"Come on," he yelled. "Put more life into it! You're supposed to be dying!"
